

In 2005 Compassion helped me with my SSI and it was Heaven Sent. I heard lots of horror stories about people getting denied even with lawyers helping them. I was really in need of assistance and my advocate from Compassion knew how to gather all of the information needed for the hearing so it would be impossible for the judge to deny my case. She was so phenomenal that when I got sick and was hospitalized during the time my hearing was set, my advocate went in my place, took care of everything and I was awarded my SSI Disability. I have referred several people to her and they have all been helped by this organization as well. My advocate is like family to everyone she has helped. She is awesome and she knows her stuff. I want you to know that she is WONDERFUL and she is totally deserving of any funding available so that she can continue to do the work she does.
